SAC Sets May 22 As Student Election Date

Student body elections for officers for the 1947-48 school year will be held on Thursday, May 22. At that time the revised student body Constitution will be presented for ratification. This action was decided in the Student Affairs Council meeting held last Tuesday evening according to Leon Garoin, president. Garoin appointed Art Gilstrap, Archie Ahrendes, Paul Madge, Leon McAdams, John Seaton, and Bob Roney as the nominating committee for the election.

This committee will present their nominees to the student body at a mass assembly to be held May 8. Candidates from the floor will be nominated at this assembly and all candidates will present short campaign speeches at that time, stated Garoin.

Persons who wish to make nominations from the floor should inform their choices early enough so that such nominees can present their campaign platforms and speeches at the assembly. Choices of the nominating committee will be notified by May 5, said Garoin.

The revised student constitution and by-laws will appear in the columns of El Mustang in the issue of May 15. At that time biographical sketches from the candidates will also be published, according to John Patterson, editor.

The Constitution Revision Committee, headed by Blick Wells, will present their work to the SAC at the SAC meeting of May 6. Wells also stated that a public meeting would be held to discuss the proposed constitution on some open date between the fifth and the twenty-second.

Poly Royal Starred On Mutual Network

California Polytechnic college and San Luis Obispo county will receive nation-wide publicity on May 1 when the Mutual Broadcasting system will originate a 20-minute coast-to-coast broadcast from the campus of the local college featuring the Sixth Army's Recruiting program, "Sons O' Guns."

The announcement that the Mutual network had accepted a full one-half hour of the one-hour program to be released from 8 to 8:30 p.m. Thursday, May 1, came from Les Hacker, manager of Mutual's San Luis Obispo affiliate, KVEC.

Personnel of the Army show were at the college Monday conferring with college and student officials relative to the script for the program. M/Sgt. Rulon Johnson, producer of the "Sons O' Guns" show, and his colleagues, S/Sgt. Gene Simpson, and Warrant Officer Salin, Hamilton Field music director, will write the show around the activities of the college, emphasizing the 15th annual Poly Royal which will begin officially the morning after the broadcast.

Special arrangements are being made to provide extra bleachers on the athletic field so that residents of San Luis Obispo county will be able to attend the show.

Assisting in the contacts which brought the Mutual show to Poly was Sgt. A. B. Pier, local recruiting sergeant, and Louis Allan Weiss, Mutual executive, Los Angeles.

GRADUATING STUDENTS

Students who expect to receive a B. S. degree or a vocational or technical certificate at the end of the current spring quarter, should come to the recorder's office, room 102, immediately to receive a final evaluation.

Tomorrow Night's Dance Sponsored By Engineers

The arrangements committee for the Engineer's dance Friday night met Tuesday night to cover the final details.

Don Johnson, chairman of the committee, announced that though the working time for the decorations would be short, Poly students attending the dance would find an atmosphere conducive to pleasant dancing. He also stated that there would be refreshments served. A door prize will be awarded at intermission time. The Collegians will be ready to play at 9 p.m. and will continue until midnight. An early arrival would insure three hours of good dancing.

Rodeo Entries Due Tuesday in El Corral

Entries for the Poly Royal rodeo will be taken in El Corral Tuesday morning, April 29. The entrance fee in all events will be $5.00, and the money is to be split 50% for first, 30% for second and 20% for third.

The bull riding will be limited to 25 riders, who will be the first 25 to sign up. According to Red Mason, rodeo superintendent, all the bulls have had quite a bit of experience, and will buck a lot harder than the steers used at former Poly Royal rodeos. Other events for which entries will be taken Tuesday morning are calf roping, ribbon tying and team roping.

Students who desire to show stock horses should contact Red Mason as soon as possible. If enough horses are entered to make a complete class, there will be an entry fee of $2.50, which will be split 50-30-20.

Rules for the various events and other information concerning the rodeo can be obtained in El Corral next Tuesday morning.

Queen Reception Planned Thursday

By Betty McLaughlin

The Students' Wives club will hold their second annual reception for the queen and princesses of Poly Royal on May 1st. The affair is scheduled to begin at 8:30 in the Hillcrest lounge. The queen, Catherine Dupont, and the princesses, Eva Brebes, Louise Kirk, Jo Ann Martinson, and Carolyn Waite, will receive the students, the faculty, and their visitors at this time.

The reception will be the main event of the Students' Wives club for the spring quarter, and preparations are already under way to make it one of the outstanding events of the Poly Royal weekend. Doris Gregowski has been appointed chairman for the reception, with Betty Weller in charge of refreshments, and Ruth Renihan in charge of the flowers and decorations. Entertainment will also be a highlight of the evening and two programs will be given so as to accommodate everyone.

All students, students' wives, faculty, and visiting friends and relatives are cordially invited to attend the reception.

Musicians Set For Concert

The Glee club and the Collegians, in fine shape after a good tour, are all set and anxiously awaiting to perform at the home concert tonight. The ticket sale is progressing amazingly well. Twelve hundred were originally printed; 600 adult at 90 cents, and 600 student at 60 cents. A count was taken last Monday night and it showed that about 180 adult and 80 student tickets are all that are left.

"Looks like we might have a sell out," said "Davy" Davidson, music director, "and will we wow 'em." The Collegians have been rehearsing some new and fancy pranks for this great event, and promise to be in fine shape. As you all know, the orchestra really laid them in the aisle on the tour. Praise and more praise was all that could be heard and invitations galore to play for proms and dances came rolling in.

The club has been holding strict rehearsals and going over all their songs to really be able to give forth on the occasion.

The octet has been up to their usual pranks, and have added some new ideas to their repertoire. Incidentally, Beny Barr is polishing his bald spot so as to blind the audience.

The quartet has really been working overtime, even rehearsing during noon hours so as to be at the peak of perfection for their part.

"This concert promises to be one of the best given," says Wayne Misemer, the club manager. "The numbers have been polished and finished to perfection, and the co-operation has been outstanding on the part of all the members."

Band Practice For Concert at Barbecue

By Ernie Heald

The members of the band are working up a variety of numbers for the big concert to be put on during the Poly Royal barbecue.

Recently added to the membership of the band are Robert Miller and Leslie Rising on the saxes. Albert Kniper on his licories stick (clarinet to you) and Eddie Jay, supporting his mighty piccolo, are again with the group.

It Won't Be Long Now!

By Paul Madge

Here it is, just a week until Poly Royal and everything is running along according to schedule (hard to believe, but true). Just as any large undertaking needs a capable central body to supervise and guide all efforts toward a successful culmination of activities, so does Cal Poly's "country fair on a college campus." We students have been fortunate this year in having Poly Royal Executive Committee composed of representatives of the various college departments who have worked unceasingly in order that this year's open house would long be remembered for its success in giving to campus visitors a true and enjoyable picture of both the educational and social features of our matchless campus.

Many plans have been devised this year to better coordinate activities of the various departments in regard to Poly Royal. Instead of a general clean-up day, each department has been assigned areas for which they are responsible.

Through the efforts of Robert Kennedy, publicity director, we are fortunate in having a half-hour coast-to-coast radio broadcast on the eve of Poly Royal.

Mustangs Trim Marines 7-6 At High School Diamond

By Art Van Etten

For awhile Saturday, the Cal Poly Mustangs played host to the members of the El Toro Marine ball club. When they arrived, they were shown all of the main points of interest. Later in the day the Mustangs took over a different role as they dumped the Marines 7-6 in a single game at the high school field.

Tickets Ready For Barbecue

By Eugene Kemper

Tickets for the barbecue at Poly Royal, May 3, will go on sale for $1.00 one week in advance. They will be available at the poultry department's sales office, the cashier's window and in El Corral, it was announced by John Jones, student body manager.

Students holding meal tickets may purchase their barbecue tickets at a special booth at Poly Grove on Saturday morning, May 3. Tickets will also be sold at the various departmental exhibits all day Friday and Saturday morning, May 2 and 3. There will be three booths open for ticket sales at Poly Grove during Poly Royal at 11 a.m., Saturday. The barbecue begins at 11:30.

Jones urges the students to purchase tickets for themselves and their guests in advance to avoid a rush during Poly Royal and to make sure of getting something to eat.

McCorkle, Egan Attend Meeting

C. O. McCorkle, dean of instruction, and Eugene Egan, dean of student welfare, are in San Francisco representing Cal Poly at the semi-annual State College Deans meeting being held this Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday at the Hotel Bellevue.

On Friday, C. O. McCorkle will be at Stanford University to interview prospects for new instructors positions at Cal Poly in September. Saturday, April 26, similar interviews will be held at the University of California at Berkeley.

An eighth inning rally by the marines kept Bob Mott's boys hustling, but some excellent relief hurling by Don Garman did the trick.

The Mustangs again made the most of the successful expedient used against Santa Barbara last Thursday. This time they chased Ben Peters, starting Leatherneck hurler, from the mound in the first inning with five runs. Singles by "Pinky" Bebernes and Wilbur Mayhew, plus three walks and three errors accounted for five tallies.

In the second, Jim "Red Rolfe" Fisher singled, driving home "Pee Wee" Fraser, who had walked and pilfered second. Poly completed its scoring spree in the third inning when Bert Haas walked, stole second, and Karl Frie, winning pitcher, tripled to deep right center to score Haas.

El Toro garnered only three hits all afternoon, but coupled with seven Mustang errors and eleven free passes to first, they produced six runs.

Frie had worked seven innings and allowed only two singles and six walks when the Marines lowered the boom and scored two runs on four walks, a "bingle", and an error. The error was disastrous as it was handled sloppily three times on the one play. Men were perched on second and third when "Lefty" Garman took over.

"Lefty" loaded the sacks with a pass, and then proceeded to snuff out the rally and save the game for Frie. He set the Marines down quickly in the final stanza, striking out the last two batters.

All this week, the Mottmen will definitely concentrate on fielding and hitting in preparation for their trip north next week. Their fielding was sloppy Saturday, and they collected only five hits from the combined hurling of Peters and Seipp. Frie's triple and Bennett's two-bagger were the only extra base knocks. The team is wide awake when they get on the base paths, though, as was evident Saturday, when they pilfered six bases, with Fraser nabbing two.

Next week we meet some very tough teams and there'll have to be plenty of hustle; but our boys have it. We hope they come home with a clean sweep!

Police Details

Just a week and a day from now the students of this college will present to the public the fifteenth annual Poly Royal. If you haven't by now learned that this will be the big event of the year at California Polytechnic you have probably been, or soon will be, buried. Therefore, the editor doesn't believe that it is necessary to expound the virtues of our, your, Poly Royal.

Every department and club on the campus has made its plans for the big show and every student, faculty member, student wife, college employee, and member of the administration knows what his duties will be. There is one item that needs the assistance of each and every person on the campus.

It has been tradition on this campus to devote one day to cleanup. Due to several circumstances that tradition is not being observed this year. Never-the-less, the campus needs to be cleaned up. Each department has been assigned an area to police. In order to assure the best appearance possible of the grounds and buildings we are asking everyone to do a little more. Please do not clutter up the premises with paper, trash, or cigarette butts. The latter item is probably the most common around here. Poly gives its personnel more freedom in the matter of smoking than a great many colleges do. Let us not abuse that privilege.

There are two things to do with a cigarette that has burned out its usefulness. One method of disposal is commonly known as to a great many of us as field stripping. Our service days are over, and most of us still hate to do anything which smacks of the military. However, is it asking too much of you to break your cigarette butt, let the tobacco go with the wind and wad up the two or three square inches of paper into a ball the size of a match head before letting it follow the tobacco? And, if you don't feel that this is compatible with civilian life, let us urge you to deposit your cigarette butts in the proper containers around the campus. There are now trash cans aplenty, on most areas of the grounds. Use them for candy and gum wrappers, and for other papers or trash which you may wish to eliminate. Such action will help the various grounds committees, and will result in a cleaner campus for your Poly Royal. The editor hates to see El Mustang thrown away, but he would far rather see it thrown into a trash can than lying in a gutter or on a lawn.

Dear John...

Dear John:

I would like to use part of your column to thank the many students on the campus for their recent interest and cooperation in the college annual by offering their time to have pictures taken of them at advertising firms in the gay city of San Luis Obispo.

To the wives of many of the students here at Cal Poly goes a hearty thanks for their kind participation in the above mentioned endeavor. All the pictures are very good.

Thanks—

O.H. Students Make Plans For Poly Royal

By Paul Tritenbach

Specific plans for the Horticulture department's share in Poly Royal have been made, announced Chuck Burroughs, chairman of the Poly Royal committee. Most of the O. H. students have been selected to assist at various times, as indicated by lists posted in classroom 9.

A pre-Poly Royal 15-minute broadcast is scheduled for next Wednesday, April 30. Four Horticulture students will be heard from the Landscape unit from 8:05 to 8:20 p.m.

On Saturday, May 3, the plant identification and floral arrangement contests will take place. The identification contest, to be held at the Landscape unit, and the arrangement contest, to take place in classroom 9, are both scheduled for 10 a.m. In addition, there will be open house at the Landscape unit Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Business conducted at the Horticulture club's meeting last Thursday included, among other things, Poly Royal plans, and a report by Harold Matos on key lockets. In addition, the date for the Spring barbecue was set for May 18. Cokes and doughnuts were served following the meeting.

The gallon can stock, for a long time in chaotic condition, has been reorganized systematically at last.

LOOKIN' ON...

with GLENN ARTHUR

When I was coming in on the milk train early Monday morning the Ag Ed building was well lighted, but the Ad Building didn't have so much as a candle burning. If only a couple of spot lights could be used to light up the tower it would attract the attention of many people riding the trains. The Ad building is a beauty and why not use it to the best advantage.

The El Rodeo is coming along in fine shape. Of course the whole staff is burning the midnight oil in order to meet the deadline. There is a lack of activity pictures for many of the departments. Editor John Shea has asked me to send out a call for any and all pictures that any of you students have taken of club, department or social activities. By bringing in pictures you not only will get yourself and your buddies in the El Rodeo, but you will be helping out the staff. These pictures should be handed in within a week in order to make the deadline.

Some of the dorms and units are commencing to look fairly tidy. Some of the boys in the Upper Units have been hoeing weeds and cleaning up in general to have the area spic and span for Poly Royal. It is surprising how much a few boys can get done in a short time. If any of you students have any spare time, grab a hoe or a rake and straighten up your corner of the campus.

The traffic situation around the Ad building is a scandal. We need some white lines to mark the center lines of the streets and also to mark the parking areas. There should be only single parking in back of the Ad building. If you park off the street some dope always parks in the street behind you. Many times there isn't room for two cars to pass because the parked cars stick too far out in the street.

Poly Horsehidiers Split With Gauchos, 7-3, 2-7

With Don Crawford twirling a masterful 7-hitter in the first game, Poly split with the Santa Barbara Gauchos Thursday, 7-3 and 2-7.

The Mustangs teed off on Gaucho hurler, Dale Scott, for 5 of their 7 runs in the first stanza after the Gauchos scored one run on one hit off of Crawford in their half of the first inning. Fraser got life on a hard hit ball to the third baseman. Hoffamn followed with a single to left and Bebernes drove one of Scott's high, hard one into deep right center for a single to drive in Fraser and Hoffamn. Fisher grounded out to the sortstop and Rosa sent the first pitch into center field bringing in Bebernes. Haas sent Rosa to third with a single and Lesky forced Haas at second base. Lesky stole second and Mayhew drove in both Lesky and Rosa with a single to left. Crawford ended the inning by popping up to Bushman.

In the third frame, Poly came to life with two more runs to make it 7-1 on a single run by Rosa, a walk to Haas, and a single by Mayhew. "Old reliable" Crawford turned the "windy" boys from Santa Barbara back until the sixth, when they touched him for a run on one hit and an error. In the ninth inning, with the score 7-2, the Gaucho scored one more run on hits by Steinberg and Day to make the score 7-3. Crawford struck out 7 men and allowed but 7 scattered hits in racking up his fourth win of the season against one loss.

Gauchos Edge Poly Mermen

The Mustang swimmers were taken under for a slight ducking by the Gauchos of Santa Barbara State College last Friday in the swimming meet held in the Poly pool. The score was 49-26.

Although Poly took 4 firsts, they didn't come up with the necessary seconds and thirds to fill in and thus keep their point average up. The swimmers are doing much better now than they were at the beginning of the season and should give all future opponents a good run for their money.

The first places, for 5 points each, were won in the following by Poly: 300 yard medley relay, Thompson, Connally, Stalford; Diving, Ray Kemp; 150 yard backstroke, Dick Thompson. 200 yard breaststroke, Mottman. Stalford took a second in the 100 yard free style for 8 points. Thirds were taken in each of the following for 1 point each: 220 yard free style, Frie; 500 yard free style, Emerson; 440 yard free style, Frie.

SLO Tennis Club Defeats Mustangs

The San Luis Obispo Tennis club defeated the Cal Poly tennis team by a 9-1 score in a series of matches played last Saturday on the local high school courts. Although Grant Chaffee scored Poly's lone point by defeating Hal Wise 6-4, 6-2 in the number six singles match, the feature work of the day was that of freshman Marshall Miller who forced Cliff Johnson, the club ace, to an 8-6, 6-3 match. Other results follow:

Shiny Hoff (d) Lee Grube, 7-5 6-4

Johnson-Minton (d) Miller-Chaffee, 6-3, 6-1

Goodell-Hoff (d) Redden-Ebat, 6-4, 6-1

Hunter-Wise (d) Seaton-Grube, 6-3, 6-3

Jim Hamilton-Marvin Arnold (d) Bob Brunner-Ronald Johns, 6-3, 6-4

Ben Minton (d) Don Seaton, 6-3 6-4 6-4

Geo. Hunter (d) Greg Ebat, 6-3 6-4

Bob Goodell (d) Bob Redden, 6-4 6-6 6-3

This week-end Poly will be represented at the Ojai championships by Marshall Miller and Art and Grant Chaffee.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By JOE GRIFFIN

The attitude of the average student here at Cal Poly concerning athletics is strictly passive. This is speaking from a participation viewpoint only. The administration and the athletic department has seen fit in the past year, on the supposition of total student support, to move ahead in the field of athletics. This support has been outstanding as far as students coming to the games and backing the squads vocally. That is one item that has been commented on more than once by visiting teams and by different collegiate publications. These people use Cal Poly as an example to their student body of how a team should be supported. That in itself is a credit to the college, and to the students. To get down to the theme of this article, it is my belief that the student body and the administration have not held up their end as well as they could have.

Our entry into the California Collegiate Athletic Association entails many obligations, not only on the part of the governing body, but also on the students' part. One of the main prerequisites is that we field teams in conference competition that will do justice to the class of competition which we will meet. This will be accomplished in the future only by total student support. That implies, besides just watching the ball games, active participation.

Active participation means more than just turning out for a team. It brings into the picture the question of scholastic standings. Anyone who maintains that athletics do not interfere with a student maintaining grades comparable with other average students is either not familiar with just how an athlete is fatigued both mentally and physically by the grind he is required to undergo or the person is narrow-minded.

I have talked to many of the students here on the campus about this question and they all give the same answer: "If I could make the grades I would turn out." The majority of these men are good potential material. If the college could set up a system in the near future where an athlete could go to someone for help and get results, I would venture to say that this college would be riding the crest in any sport. The average person will counter with, "If you need help, just go and see your instructor." That is all well and good, and to date the instructors have cooperated fully. But in reality do you think that these fellows have an option on the instructors' time? There are other students to be considered and the instructors' time is generally limited. If that isn't the case then, the time when the student and the instructor can get together differs. If his problem could be solved, we would have a greater number of students out for sports, and in the end there would be fewer headaches all the way around, and much better teams to represent Cal Poly.

SWIMMING

The Mustang mermen dropped a close one to the Gauchos Friday, 49-26. The meet was much better than the score indicates and with just a little more luck in taking a few seconds and thirds we would have walked off with the meet. In the diving event, Poly was without the services of Bill Coleal, who had broken one of his eardrums in practice on the morning of the meet. However, Ray Kemp took to the high board and withstood the challenge of both of the Gaucho divers and took a first.

While on the subject of the swimming team I would like to show you just how far some of the boys will go around here when something that has to be done doesn't get done. A new fulcrum was purchased for the diving board and due to the scarcity of workmen to install it, the swimming team decided to put it in themselves. Saturday, Ray Kemp, Bill Coleal, Milton Brown, and Donald Frank (who incidentally is not a swimmer but dived six hours of his time anyway) got together and installed the fulcrum gratis. Just little things like that will go a long way. Don't think it wasn't appreciated, fellows.

SPRING FOOTBALL

Things are shaping up to the point now where the coaching staff is thinking of splitting up the spring candidates into two squads for the coming game to be held on the first day of the Poly Royal.

NEW ANGLES

Cal Poly has its minor and its major sports but as far as Bert Straub is concerned he will take bicycle racing seven days a week. Fifteen students in Dauntless Hall have contributed a dollar apiece to a fund so Bert can enter a 25 mile bike race to be held in Bakersfield, April 27. Bert is the fourth fastest bike rider in California (unofficial) and with this moral as well as financial support is sure to win the trophy, so his backers claim. We have our fingers in just about every pot, aren't they?

STUDENTS' WIVES

By Betty McLaughlin

The Students' Wives club held their regular social meeting last Thursday, April 17 at the Hillcrest Bldg. at 8:00 p.m. The president, Pat Grube, began the meeting by introducing Betsy Conant, secretary of the Tuberculosis Association for the San Luis Obispo county. Miss Conant announced that there will be an x-ray survey held in the infirmary, on April 29 and 30. This survey will be open to all students and wives. Those who have not had an x-ray taken during the last twelve months, especially those with children, are urged to come.

The social chairman, Marjorie Grotake led a discussion on an additional social event for this quarter. Suggestions were for an informal dance, a beach party, or a hay ride, which will be decided by the social committee. The probable date set for this event is May 24.

Cecile Heald announced that the folk dance group has been disbanded; but that the director, Mr. Tognazzini, will start the group again if enough interest is shown.

The report for the Symphonettes was made by Sue Drake, who announced that hereafter they will be an independent group and not be affiliated with the Students' Wives club.

Student Wives to Participate in Contest

By Betty McLaughlin

The Flower Arrangement contest will be held on May 3, during the Poly Royal weekend, in class room 9. This contest is open to all, including students' wives, and all those interested are urged to participate. The vases and frogs must be supplied by the contestant, but flowers will be available from the Horticulture Dept., and the arrangements are to be ready by 10:00 Saturday.

There will be no limit to the number of arrangements for each person. Eight classes of arrangements have been designated.

Wives club.

Didi Garrett announced that the Drama Group will meet Wednesday, April 23, in the Hillcrest Bldg. at 7:45 p.m.

"Fire" in Jespersen Calls Out Department

By Eugene Kemper

There was a hot time in Jespersen Dorm, Saturday night when someone threw a red smoke bomb into Jack "Mouse" Warren's room. He had his lights on, which, through the red smoke, made the room look like a blazing inferno. The siren at the powerhouse blew and the fire engine, manned by student firemen, roared around the corner to the "fire." After a two and one-half inch hose was put on the fire hydrant, the crew was let in on the fact that nothing was wrong.

CREDIT LIMITED

For the benefit of new students, and others who might not know, the Accounting Office would like to bring attention to the fact that the Foundation credit limit is 30 days. This ruling applies on all items such as project charges (milk, etc.) room and laundry.

It is suggested that if for any reason any student is unable to meet his bills before they become delinquent, such student should contact Mr. Nelson in room 108.

When paying room and laundry please go to Window No. 2 in the Accounting Office and have Mrs. Lancaster determine the amount owed.

Spring Affects Poly's Student Entomologists

Spring is really here. Have you noticed those fellows carrying cyanide bottles, turning over cow chips, stones and boards; grabbing at flies, butterflies, and grasshoppers? They're o.k. Just some would be entomologists after their collection of bugs and beetles. What a way to spend Avila time. Why aren't there more insects at the beach? Maybe a nature study lab for Avila 103 is the answer.

A weakling—a girl who means "No" but can't say it.
